Andrew Pickford appointed Director, Infrastructure and Transport Advisory Services at MVA

August 28, 2015 – Hong Kong - Andrew Pickford has been appointed Director, Infrastructure and Transport Advisory Services for MVA, Asia Pacific.

Andrew is one of the world's leading management consultants focused on the design and practical application of Intelligent Transport Systems (ITS) to road infrastructure and Smart City applications in the built environment to help deliver optimal policy outcomes.

His competencies include investment appraisal; policy & regulatory stress testing; policy road mapping; business process design; procurement strategy development; scoping funding & financing mechanisms; development of performance management regimes; programme management and long-term implementation support.

As a hands on practitioner with a background in blue chip technology companies, his application expertise extends to electronic payment systems, Road User Charging / Electronic Road Pricing, electronic fare collection, in-vehicle telematics and Connected Vehicles, mobile location-based services, remote sensing, and traveller information systems.

Andrew has been providing a full spectrum of management consultancy services to government agencies, banks and private sector organizations internationally since 1990, including UK, Switzerland, Netherlands, Australia, Chile, USA, South Africa, Asia, Singapore, Indonesia, Hong Kong, Taiwan, and mainland China.

His combination of both technical and management experience will be a great addition to MVA Asia's already excellent team.
